Kia ora parents and whānau, staff and students

I hope as this message reaches everyone that you and your families and whānau are well. It has certainly been a wild few days as the cyclone has gone through, and while it's not over yet, the forecast for tomorrow is looking much more settled.

Kerikeri High School will reopen tomorrow (Wednesday 15 February).

School buses will run as normal, although we all need to be aware there may yet be roading issues that may mean some buses are held up or unable to run at all. If that becomes the case, we will notify you on our School App. However, for now, Clarks are confident our local school bus routes will be running.

There will be some students who are genuinely unable to get to school tomorrow because of the weather circumstances; please let us know (using our School App is a very straightforward way to report an absence) and we will record the absence as Justified Explained.

For those Year 13 students who had Prefect Interviews booked for Monday and Tuesday, we will make arrangements with you tomorrow to reschedule interviews into Thursday and Friday. Can those students please come to Reception to see Mrs Campbell (The Principal's PA) tomorrow morning to reschedule interviews. Those with interviews booked for Wednesday will still go ahead at the allotted times.

The Prefect Training Seminar has also had to be rescheduled, moving from Monday and Tuesday next week to Tuesday and Wednesday.

We are looking forward to seeing everyone back at school as soon as possible, as we get our school routines, teaching and learning underway for 2023.

Warm regards, Noho ora mai
